Editorial Guidelines
The Journal opens submissions for its policy and research journal bi-yearly.

This document provides authors with details on policy, copyediting, formatting and layout requirements for final manuscript submission to the Journal. All submissions must conform to the submission guidelines outlined below. Failure to do so may result in the submission being rejected. All manuscripts should be submitted here contact@tlpreview.com in an electronic version. The journal accepts manuscripts for publication on a rolling basis throughout the year. Submissions made after the lapse of the deadline of one issue shall be considered for publication in the next issue.

Theme and Structure
We invite submission on issues relating to private international law, comparative law and international law. The submission is encouraged on issues of all geographical regions without preference to any regions and without emphasis on particular areas of public and private international law.

A. Editorial Policy

● Unpublished material: The manuscripts submitted for publication in TLPR must not be copyrighted, published, or submitted elsewhere, except in abstract form. The corresponding author must ensure that all co-authors approve the submission of the manuscript.

● Conflict of interest: The authors who submit a manuscript bear the responsibility to identify and disclose any kind of conflicts of interest that might bias their work and/or could inappropriately influence her/his best judgment. The publishers assume that no conflict of interest exists if such specific acknowledgement is not provided.

● Declaration of funding: A declaration of sources of funding must be provided (wherever applicable). Authors must state the full official name of the funding body and specify the grant amount.
• Ethical research: The authors ensure that their work conforms to ethical standards of research.
• Copyright: The authors agree by signing a Journal Copyright Transfer Form to transfer the copyright to their work to the publisher.

B. Copyediting/ Language Editing

• All manuscripts must be written in clear and concise English (American English).
• During the submission of manuscripts, the authors must be mindful of the following:
  i. Manuscripts should be submitted in a word (.doc or .docx) file.
  ii. If the content of the manuscript includes special characters, equations, formulas, etc., then a PDF version of the manuscript should also be submitted along with the word file for reference purposes. This will enable the concerned editors to mitigate any formatting issues present in the word file.
  iii. Please adhere to the following document structure:
     a. Introduction (see below);
     b. Main Body, including References and Tables, Figures, and Graphs (see below); and
     c. Conclusion.
